

Trainer/Network Partner

Martin Scheuplein

Philosophy:

“What can you already do well, and what could you do even better?” – one of the fundamental questions that Martin Scheuplein likes to ask his training and coaching participants. “Help Me to Help Myself.” Shaped by the Montessori motto, he perceives a potential in every person which deserves to be developed. This is also the fundamental driving force which is in the foreground for him in every training course. This ensures that the learning impulse is anchored on a permanent level, imbuing the everyday working life and personality of each participant with individually tailored added value.
